ACCURACY & COMPROMISE...

- The accuracy of your translations using machine language ultimately depends on two factors:
 - Language you are translating
 - Service you are using
- For the most accurate translations, use a human translator.
- Human translators can cost $.04+ cents per word.
- Also consider Fiverr or Upwork.

ACCURACY & COMPROMISE...

- For most translations, Google Translate and Amazon Translate are going to give you the best results.
- When translating from English into other languages, I would recommend sticking with words and phrases.
- Consider working with a proofreader versed in the language you're translating into.
- Fiverr and Upwork are also options for finding proofreaders for your translations.

TRANSLATING DOCUMENTS...

- Several of the translation programs support document translation.
- Google Translate is probably one of the easiest to use out of all the others.
- Supports.doc, .docx, .odf, .pdf, .ppt, .pptx, .ps, .rtf, .txt, .xls, or .xlsx
- The output is online in text format.
